

LAMA WANGDOR RINPOCHE

An Evening Dharma Talk

MAY 13, 2009 from 7-9 PM

Kane Hall Room 220
University of Washington Campus
Seattle, WA

Parking at UW Central Garage
15th Ave NE and NE 41st Street with elevator access to Kane Hall
For more information contact George Parks
geoparks@earthlink.net or 206-930-1949

Lama Wangdor is a Tibetan Buddhist Monk and Dharma Teacher. He has a profound commitment to making Buddhist philosophy and practice accessible to everyone with a sincere interest. Rinpoche holds both Nyingma and Kaygu Dzogchen/Chagchen Lineages and is considered a Rime (eclectic) teacher. He is known for his lucid teachings and great compassion.

NO CHARGE IS MADE FOR THE TEACHINGS
IN THE TRADITION OF DANA (OFFERINGS TO THE TEACHER)
ALL DONATIONS WILL BE GRATEFULLY ACCEPTED

The Dharma cannot be sold and is precious beyond any price. Therefore, in accordance with Tibetan custom, there is no "admission fee" for this evening with Wangdor Rinpoche. Rather, it is appropriate to make an offering or "Dana" based on what you can manage. No one will be turned away for lack of money. A separate offering to the translator (she receives no other payment for her excellent work) is also appreciated. Envelopes will be provided on entry to each participant to make an offering directly to Rinpoche and his translator at the end of the evening.

Donations to cover event costs can be made in a basket provide outside the auditorium with our thanks.

www.customjuju.com/wangdorrinpoche