

MAKING THE BOOSTER SEAT SELECTION

After children have outgrown a harness system, they must use booster seats to help the vehicle belt system fit their dimensions. Several types are available, including belt-positioning seats in high-back or no-back styles, and one shield model. Use the following decision tree to help sort out the booster style that is safest for your child.

