NEWS FROM CCPH

Findings from National Study of Community-Based Processes for Research Ethics Review! The first major paper from CCPH's Greenwall Foundation-funded study, "Understanding Community-Based Processes for Research Ethics Review" has been published in the American Journal of Public Health: <http://bit.ly/ewNLun>

Read more about the study on our website: <http://bit.ly/hjgQXV>

Special Journal Discount for CCPH Members! CCPH members can subscribe to Progress in Community Health Partnerships (PCHP) at a savings of over 50%, with a special renewal rate! Published by Johns Hopkins University Press, PCHP is "the" journal for community-based participatory research and other community-academic partnerships aimed at improving health. For details, visit <http://bit.ly/g4Vcpx>

Learn How & Why to Publish through CES4Health.info! <http://CES4Health.info> is an online mechanism for peer-reviewing, publishing and disseminating diverse products of community-engaged scholarship (CES). Twenty-four products have been published, including a video on the health impact of Hurricane Katrina, a toolkit for promoting walking in rural communities, a manual for promotora-led diabetes management programs, and an online curriculum for developing & sustaining CBPR partnerships. Listen to a conference call on how and why to submit products of your community-engaged work: <http://bit.ly/fv3fOP>

Tap into CCPH Training & Technical Assistance Resources This Year! The CCPH Consultancy Network of trainers and consultants can help you deepen your partnerships and maximize your impact. We work closely with you to design programs that meets your needs – from 1-2 day training workshops to strategic planning sessions to external evaluations to coaching clinics on topics that include community-based participatory research, service-learning, community-campus partnerships, community-engaged scholarship and more. CCPH organizational members receive a one-hour free consultation on a topic of their choice and substantial discounts on CCPH Consultancy Network services.
