

CCPH E-News: September 2004

Dear Colleague,

Below are highlights for Community-Campus Partnerships for Health (CCPH) in the month of September. We hope this helps you stay better connected to our events and activities.

NEW AT CCPH

* New CCPH Featured Member: Walid El Ansari. Walid is the Reader in Public Health for the Postgraduate Programme in Public Health at the School of Health & Social Care at Oxford Brookes University in Oxford, England. In his interview, Walid explains the Programme's focus on the determinants of health and of health inequalities, and its deep roots in a wide range of partnerships. In describing what community-campus partnerships mean to him, Walid says "It means a great network of like-minded people who are supporting each other in their efforts to bring about better health and quality of life to underserved people. It is an appreciation of skills that different people bring to the efforts. It is a forum for interaction, planning, consultations, joint decision-making and implementation. It is the linking of community and campus perspectives for debates, synergy and forward change."

To read the full interview, click <http://depts.washington.edu/ccph/featuredmember.html>.

To read about previous featured members, click

<http://depts.washington.edu/ccph/pastfeaturedmembers.html>.

* Invitation to Join Service-Learning Listserv: The National Service-Learning Clearinghouse (NSLC) invites anyone who is interested in service-learning to join the free NSLC online discussion list for higher education service-learning. As the senior program advisor to the NSLC for higher education service-learning, CCPH frequently posts announcements about funding, conferences and publications to this list, as well as responds to requests posted by subscribers. Join lively dialogues with peers and experts....sign up now! Send an email to join-he-sl@lists.etr.org following these instructions: 1. Leave the subject line blank, and 2. Remove any appended signatures. To learn more about the NSLC, visit www.servicelearning.org

To join the Community-Based Participatory Research listserv co-sponsored by CCPH and the Wellesley Central Health Corporation, visit:

<https://mailman.u.washington.edu/mailman/listinfo/cbpr>

* The article "Community-Based Participatory Research: Policy Recommendations for Promoting a Partnership Approach in Health Research" from the journal Education for Health is now available for free online as a PDF document at http://www.educationarena.com/educationarena/sample/sample_pdfs6/cefh14_2.pdf

Authored by Barbara Israel, Amy Schulz, Edith Parker and Adam Becker, the article is based on a paper that was commissioned for the CCPH conference in 2000. The commissioned paper is also available as a PDF document at <http://depts.washington.edu/ccph/guide.html> (scroll down until you see CCPH Conference 2000: Commissioned papers)

For free access to other Education for Health articles, visit:

http://www.educationarena.com/educationarena/sample/health_samples.htm

* The CCPH Member's Guide to the APHA Conference is your "cheat sheet" of sessions on community-campus partnerships, community-based participatory research and service-learning at the American Public Health Association conference from November 6-10, 2004 in Washington, DC. To view and print the guide, please see the "coming up" column on our homepage at www.ccpb.info

Visit Community-Campus Partnerships for Health and the Community Health Scholars Program in the APHA exhibit hall at booth # 746!

For more information about other upcoming events, visit

<http://depts.washington.edu/ccph/conferences.html> .

CCPH CONFERENCE AND PROGRAMS UPDATE

Join us for the international conference "Overcoming Health Disparities: Global Experiences from Partnerships Between Communities, Health Services and Health Professional Schools," October 6 - 10, 2004- Atlanta, GA, USA, co-sponsored by Community-Campus Partnerships for Health and The Network: Towards Unity for Health.

The conference has a global focus and will feature partnerships from around the world. Indeed, individuals from over 40 countries are already registered to attend! Featured keynote speakers include David Satcher, former US Surgeon General; Tim Evans, Assistant Director-General of the World Health Organization; and Andrea Cruz of the Southeast Georgia Communities Project. The higher registration fee this year is due to a longer conference with more meals, off-site events and community site visits than we've ever had before. It is also balanced by the fact that CCPH will not be sponsoring a major conference in 2005. We will be resuming our usual spring conference schedule in the spring of 2006.

Learn more and register today at <http://www.the-networktufh.org/conference>

Coming Up at CCPH: This fall and through 2005, we are planning a number of programs and activities designed to promote member professional development and to disseminate models and best practices in health-promoting community-campus partnerships, including:

Fall 2004 teleconferences on building service-learning partnerships and on the evidence base for community-based participatory research

Fall 2004 call for nominations for next year's annual Community-Campus Partnerships for Health award (this year's award winner will be announced at the conference in Atlanta)

Summer 2005 introductory and advanced service-learning institutes

Fall 2005 call for proposals for the Spring 2006 CCPH conference

*Theme issues of Partnership Matters newsletter on eliminating health disparities and increasing health workforce diversity, along with corresponding resource pages on the CCPH website

CCPH Membership

Not yet a member? Join CCPH today! To learn more about the benefits of being a CCPH member, visit <http://depts.washington.edu/ccph/members.html>
Join online by credit card at <http://www.regonline.com/eventinfo.asp?EventId=8776> or by check at http://depts.washington.edu/ccph/pdf_files/Jan2004.membbrocpdf.pdf
If you have any questions, please contact us at (206) 543-8178 or ccphuw@u.washington.edu.

 Recommend CCPH E-News to your colleagues: Do you forward CCPH E-News to your colleagues or friends? Why not suggest that they subscribe directly? All they need to do is send an email to ccphuw@u.washington.edu with the subject "Subscribe to CCPH E-News"

Community-Campus Partnerships for Health is a nonprofit organization that promotes health through partnerships between communities and higher educational institutions. Check out our website at www.ccph.info
