Funded Research

Active

Opening Doors for Diverse Populations to Health Disparities Research Training Grant (September 2011 – present). Serving as curriculum coordinator for $1.7 million, five-year science education program funded by the National Institute of Minority Health and Health Disparities of the National Institutes of Health designed to increase the number of health disparities researchers by providing educational and mentored research opportunities for 27 students annually.

Completed

Participatory Statewide Evaluation of the Pennsylvania Cancer Education Network, Commonwealth of PA, and Centers for Disease Control & Prevention, (PI: Lisa Ulmer, 4/1/06 – 6/30/11). Served as co-investigator leading investigations of multicultural competency since July 2008. Responsible for the analysis and improvement of cancer education for underserved vulnerable minority groups participating in projects associated with the PA Cancer Prevention and Control Division supportive of Act 33, and the PA Cancer Control Plan. This evaluation sought to understand the structure and functioning of the Cancer Education Network from a systems perspective, detailing and analyzing inputs, activities, outputs, and outcomes. Data collection completed in June 2009 pertaining to prevention efforts across 16 State Department of Health contractors was analyzed to further identify cultural and ethnic differences from contextual influences that need to be accounted in future cancer education and outreach activities aimed at Hispanic populations.

Evaluation of Riverside Prison Project, Planned Parenthood Southeastern Pennsylvania (2008-2009 (PI, Villanueva). Served as evaluator of a sexuality education and life-skills program designed for women and teenage girls housed at Philadelphia's Riverside Correctional Facility. The project focused on outcomes assessment derived from a six-week curriculum developed specifically for this population, and one-on-one social services and counseling. The project sought to enhance participants' knowledge of basic anatomy, HIV prevention, and negotiation skills, 2) increase access to and utilization of critical behavioral health services, and 3) evaluate methods and outcomes of its activities and services.

Evaluation of the PA Cancer Control Plan, Commonwealth of Pennsylvania & Centers for Disease Control & Prevention (1/1/08-6/30/08). Served as co-investigator responsible for analyzing and improving cancer education for underserved vulnerable minority groups as part of a comprehensive, scientifically rigorous, and independent evaluation of projects associated with the PA Cancer Prevention and Control Division supportive of Act 33 priorities and the PA Cancer Control Plan. This evaluation sought to understand the structure and functioning of each assessed project from a systems perspective, detailing and analyzing inputs, activities, outputs and outcomes.

Applied Research with Congreso de Latinos Unidos, Inc. (2002 – 2006). (PI, Villanueva)

- Evaluation of adolescent substance use risk reduction project in four Philadelphia middle schools, in collaboration with Congreso de Latinos Unidos, Inc. (2004-2006)
- Principal investigator of needs assessment project focused on a cluster of newly arrived Mexican immigrants living in South Philadelphia, in collaboration with Congreso de Latinos Unidos, Inc. and funded by Drexel University's Center for Health Equality (2003)
- Evaluator of two extended day treatment programs for dependent, truant, and adjudicated adolescents sponsored by Congreso de Latinos Unidos, Inc., in Philadelphia, funded by the City of Philadelphia's Office of Mental Health Services, Philadelphia Department of Human Services, and the School District of Philadelphia. The Boys' and Girls' Centers delivered family-oriented and gender-specific programming to meet participants' educational, social, psychological, and social functioning needs within a comprehensive strategy (2002-2004)

Applied Research with Planned Parenthood (2004-2006). (PI, Villanueva). Evaluation of sexual health education project in three Philadelphia middle schools, in collaboration with Planned Parenthood Southeastern Pennsylvania. This evaluation focused on assessing the effectiveness of the Planned Parenthood Southeastern Youth First project, in enabling middle school children in three Philadelphia public schools to make positive and healthy decisions about their health.

Additional Applied Research (1995-2000)

- Served as co-investigator on project led by Dr. Salvatore Mangione and funded by Schering Plough investigating socio-economic and psychosocial factors linked to control of asthma between low-income Latino/Hispanic and African-Americans attending nine local middle schools. I developed and conducted pre- and post-intervention qualitative assessments (1998-2000)
- $3,500 awarded by Drexel University's Center for Health Equality to conduct a needs assessment of newly arrived Mexican immigrants in South Philadelphia (2003-04)
- $2,980 awarded for curriculum development from the Philadelphia Higher Education Network for Neighborhood Development in support of Service-Learning activities for first-year public health students (2001-02)
- $3,000 awarded for curriculum development from the Philadelphia Higher Education Network for Neighborhood Development in support of Service-Learning activities for first-year public health students (2000-01)

- $300,000 awarded by The Pew Charitable Trusts in support of creation of community-academic partnership in North Philadelphia's 11th Street Corridor (1998)
- $150,000 grant funded by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania's Department of Health in support of community-based primary care practica for medical students in internal medicine, family practice and pediatrics (1995)

Grants Submitted

- Submission to the National Institutes of Health, National Institute of Minority Health and Health Disparities, of a 5-year R25 training grant proposal, Opening the Doors for Diverse Populations to Health Disparities Research, a science education program designed to increase the number of health disparities researchers by providing educational and mentored research opportunities to 27 students annually. Priority will be given to students from socially, economically and culturally under-represented groups in the sciences including 10 undergraduate, 12 graduate and five medical students each year. Institutional partners include Pennsylvania's Lincoln University, an Historically Black College and University (HBCU) [Curriculum Coordinator; $1.7 million, September 2011]
- Submission of an R21 (Exploratory/Developmental Research) grant proposal to the National Institute of Child Health and Human Development of the National Institutes of Health in September 2010. (PI, Villanueva). This study adds to the small but growing body of scholarly knowledge about HIV prevention efforts conducted by the African American and Latino dominated House and Ballroom Communities (HBC) across the US
- Submission of an Investigator-Initiated Research Grant to the Susan G. Komen for the Cure in collaboration with Dr. Ann Klassen (Drexel University School of Public Health) to improve communication about modifiable risk factors with young Latinas at risk for breast cancer in November 2010. This initiative is designed to explore and contrast media, stakeholder/audience, and clinician views on how to address modifiable risk factors for breast cancer among younger women in low resource populations. (Co-investigator)
