

The University of Rhode Island

Assistant Professor, Sustainable Coastal Tourism & Recreation

The Departments of Marine Affairs (MAF), Environmental and Natural Resource Economics (ENRE), and Sociology/Anthropology (SOC/ANTH) at the University of Rhode Island seek a tenure-track, academic-year, Assistant Professor in Sustainable Coastal Tourism and Recreation beginning in fall of 2015. The appointment will be in either MAF or ENRE, but potentially will include teaching cross-listed courses in SOC/ANTH. The duties include developing an internationally-recognized research program in sustainable tourism and recreation management, with a focus on coastal environmental and cultural resources and sustainable development. Visit the URI jobs site at: <https://jobs.uri.edu> to apply and view complete details for job posting # (6001705). Please attach (PDF) the following to your electronic application: 1) cover letter which includes a concise statement of your teaching interests and a concise statement of your research interests, 2) curriculum vitae, and 3) the names and contact information for three references. Review of applications will begin on January 20, 2015. Full consideration will be given to applications received by January 20, 2015; second consideration MAY be given to applications received by February 20, 2015. Only online applications will be accepted. The University of Rhode Island is an AA/EEO employer and values diversity.