DERMATOLOGY GRADUATION

The Dermatology Graduation Celebration was held on Friday, June 23, 2017 to honor Dermatology Residents Katie DeNiro, M.D., Cait May, M.D., and Shelley Yang, M.D., as well as the Micrographic Surgery and Dermatology Oncology Fellow David Pate, M.D., and the Pediatric Dermatology Fellow Cheryl Bayart, M.D.

Dr. Jennifer Gardner was the recipient of the John E. Olerud Resident Teaching Award.

"We residents are so grateful to Dr. Gardner for everything that she does. We love to work with her in clinic where she teaches us clinical care in the most patient, thoughtful way imaginable. On top of that, she goes above and beyond to help us with our presentations. She gives us extremely detailed feedback on slide design and content and we learn so much from her! We are so glad she works with us."

Dr. Dan Lantz was the recipient of the Clinical Faculty Distinguished Teaching Award.

"Meeting with Dr. Lantz to review dermatopathology each Thursday morning is, without a doubt, one of the most cherished parts of our residency training. His commitment to the program is unparalleled, and he is highly invested in the personal and professional success of each resident. He also made some particularly huge sacrifices to us this year, as he continued his sessions despite physical injuries! He makes learning dermatopathology fun and rewarding, and for all of these reasons and more, we could not think of a person more deserving of this award. Thank you, Dr. Lantz, for all that you do for us – it is an honor to share your scope with you."

DERMATOLOGY RESIDENTS

KATIE DENIRO, MD

This August Dr. DeNiro will start an appointment as an Acting Instructor at the University of Washington in the Dermatology Division. She will have clinics at both Harborview and the VA. Our current residents are very excited about training with Katie as their attending.

"I feel incredibly lucky to have trained at UW. The faculty are wonderful people and really care about the success and well-being of the residents. Our clinical training is exceptional as we are exposed to a wide variety of clinical dermatology."

CAIT MAY, MD

Cait continues her training (without a break) as the fellow in the Dermatopathology Training Program at the University of Washington beginning July 1.

"It has been a great honor and privilege to train in dermatology at the University of Washington. The last three years have been deeply rewarding, both at work and at home where Phil and I added a sweet little member to our family. My sincerest of thanks to all of the faculty and staff, as well as my co-residents, for making my training such a joy. While I will no longer be seeing you all in clinics at Roosevelt, I look forward to staying involved with the Division as the dermatopathology fellow next year. After my fellowship, Phil and I will be heading down under (Melbourne, Australia) for his fellowship; afterward, we hope to land back in the amazing PNW!"

SHELLEY YANG, MD

Shelley is joining the Denver Skin Clinic in Denver, CO.

“It has been a tremendous privilege to train at UW! I feel so fortunate to have worked with such amazing, caring, and hardworking faculty and residents. I couldn't have asked for a greater group of people who have taught me through leading by example and showing their commitment to lifelong learning. I could not have reached this milestone without their support.”

MICROGRAPHIC SURGERY AND DERMATOLOGY ONCOLOGY FELLOWSHIP

DAVID PATE, MD

David is joining Northshore Dermatology in August of 2017. This an established private practice out of Slidell, LA near where he grew up.

“I want to thank Dr. Kampp and all the other wonderful attendings, staff, and residents that have made this fellowship a great experience.”

PEDIATRIC DERMATOLOGY FELLOWSHIP

CHERYL BAYART, MD

Cheryl will be returning to the Cleveland Clinic Foundation in Cleveland, Ohio (where she did her dermatology residency) as an attending Pediatric Dermatologist and Assistant Professor at the Lerner School of Medicine. She, her husband Jean-Philippe, and their cat Freddie are excited for the opportunities which await them in Ohio, but will dearly miss the Pacific Northwest's fantastic natural beauty, Seattle's Asian restaurant scene, regular skiing and their running companions. They plan to console themselves with a trip to France this summer, which will include a hike/trail run around the base of the Mont Blanc.

“Words cannot express what a privilege it has been to be the first fellow in pediatric dermatology at Seattle Children's Hospital/University of Washington. I will forever be grateful to the extraordinary colleagues I have worked with this year, including nurses, residents, support staff, and attendings in other specialties, but most of all my attendings in pediatric dermatology, who were clearly invested in teaching and in my learning on a daily basis, and whom I watched provide the highest quality of care for their young patients. I will strive throughout my career to attain their level of expertise, skill, kindness, patience and humility. I am so fortunate to have Drs. Sidbury, Brandling-Bennett, Gupta and Boos as my mentors and friends, and am excited for future fellows who will have the opportunity to learn from them. I would like to thank everyone at Seattle Children's and at UW for going out of their way to make me feel welcome and to make my fellowship year one of the best of my life.”
