

Student's Name: John Smith

Classroom: Room 100

Quarter: Fall Year: 2005-2006

This quarter has been an exciting one and we are glad that John has been a part of it. From the time he gets off the bus, till it is time to go home, John is excited about school and all the activities of the day. His favorite activities are play court and the block area during free choice. He has created some impressive structures with his friends. John has a great zest for life which is evident in his enthusiasm to try new activities and play with his friends.

John is also very patient with his peers and can be counted on to share and make compromises with friends. He has developed a close friendship with Zack and Slater. These boys can be seen playing in their "clubhouse" at play court and playing a variety of catching games. They also play in the block area with friends like Dylan and Brandon.

An enthusiastic participant at circle, John not only sings songs but is also the first to answer a question the teacher asks. At snack he is an animated story teller, especially when he likes what is on the snack menu! John loves books and is able to name several letters and is currently working on learning the letter sounds.

It is a pleasure to have John as a member of our class. We look forward to having much more fun with him next quarter.
