

The University of Washington's Friday Harbor Laboratories presents...

Young Investigator Prize

$5600 in 2022

Do you want the opportunity to be a research assistant in a world-class, marine science laboratory with a team of scientists and receive $5600 for doing it?

If so, here's what you need to know and do:

The UW/Friday Harbor Labs Young Investigator Prize is awarded each year to a motivated high school junior showing exceptional promise in fields of Science and Mathematics.

Interested regional students need to submit high school transcripts, two letters of recommendation (from teachers or scientists with whom the applicant has previously worked), and an essay describing their background and career goals. The winner is selected by a committee of University of Washington professors and is awarded a paid internship at FHL ($5600 in 2022). The winner will spend the summer (8 weeks) as a fulltime research assistant in a UW / FHL Marine Science Laboratory.

Application Requirements:

- Student is presently a junior or senior high school student
- High School Transcripts
- Two Letters of Recommendation (from teachers or scientists the applicant has previously worked with)
- Short essay describing the student's background and career goals (one page maximum)
- Contact information: email address, mailing address, and a contact phone number

Submit the Materials to:
Friday Harbor Laboratories
