Alice: All our meetings are open meetings, so all of our meeting minutes are posted and open the public, that’s why we state our names and procedure.
Natalie Gordon: To help ensure a democratic process, GPSS uses parliamentary procedure. Parli Pro acts as a guide to keep order by designating what to say and how to say it to accomplish certain purposes. We have charts in you nametags as well as a couple of posters that describe the most commonly used parli pro language. Parli pro is used to protect the voice of the minority. It is very important that all voices are heard, so please express your opinions. The purpose of following this format is to address dissent and potential conflict in a fair and democratic way so that everyone has the opportunity to be heard in an orderly way.

(People Talking to each other)
Alice: So if you are a brand new senator, you have never been at GPSS before, I want you to go to the front of the room.
