

Application and Admission Instructions

It is very important that you follow the application process carefully to ensure that you have first priority in securing a place in the ISAYA Institute. Please contact us with any questions you may have about your application. We will continue to accept applications until the program is full, but priority will be given to early applicants.

Admission is competitive. Please apply early to allow for possible delays in getting your visa.

PERSONAL STATEMENT | ISAYA INSTITUTE

Before submitting your application for this program, please carefully review our website, <http://depts.washington.edu/isaya/>, paying particular attention to the "Program Overview" page. Cascade applicants should also explore the Jackson School of International Studies website, at <http://jsis.washington.edu>. The ISAYA Institute follows closely to its theme. Again, we ask that you please read through both websites before completing your personal statement form.

Directions: Answer questions in essay format. In doing so, please reflect on the appropriateness of this program to your academic, experiential, and personal objectives. You may attach an additional sheet of paper if more space is needed for your responses.

Why are you interested in applying for the ISAYA Institute?

How does the ISAYA Institute relate to your academic and life goals?

Check only one of the following questions to answer: What experiences in your past will help you prepare for this program?
 What do you see as your responsibilities while you are here, and after you return? What is your strategy for handling the unexpected?

Program Conditions
 As stated in program materials, the first quarter is highly structured and allows only a limited selection of classes. You will spend much of the first quarter with other program participants. The set of customized courses provided during this quarter is designed to help you acquire the skills necessary for adjusting to U.S. university life. There will be a greater degree of choice in the second quarter. Participation in this program in no way guarantees formal admission to the UW.

I understand and accept the program conditions.
