Peckers' Fight Warms Up; Old Guard Is Sure of Winning

Withdraws—Gillett, Fess and Towner Want Peckers Treated Nicely by House Committee Unemployment Growth Throughout Country.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 13.—(By Associated Press.)—The congressional investigation into the famous Lawrenceville strike at Lawrence, Mo., is being conducted by a subcommittee of the House committee on the operations of the coal and iron industry.

Longworth, it seems, is ambitious to appoint Joseph P. Murray of Michigan as chairman of the ways and means committee, if the Republicans are to win the coming election. The new congress, with drafting a tariff bill to be voted by President Wilson, Nick believes the bill will be less unpopular in the west if it is known as the Longworth-Fordney bill than if known as the Longworth-Fordney bill.

The long fight was started a century ago, in Cincinnati, when the Indians of that region were eager to buy the Fordney business, and millions were made in the past generation in the Fordney business, both north and south. You can see the time for reform. Old Boss Cox of Cincinnati, who put Longworth in office, is now in the west.

Peckers Work on Congress

While the House Republicans are busy with the Fordney bill, the Chicago packers are trying to head off all legislation in both house and senate that may impede their food and leather monopoly. They have been busy with the house committee on interstate commerce. This is the committee that is handling the Fordney bill, and it is the committee that is handling the Fordney bill.

Over at the other end of the capital hill, the Fordney bill is being handled by the senate committee on agriculture. The senate committee on agriculture is handling the Fordney bill, and it is the committee that is handling the Fordney bill.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Feb. 13.—(By Associated Press.)—G. W. Pilling, a Minnesota League winner, was expelled from the senate by a majority of 35 votes. Pilling, who was elected to the senate in 1912, was expelled from the senate by a majority of 35 votes.

The two men watched Pilling try to open the Yale lock on the car, but they returned to the car. Then Carper and Williams walked over and grabbed Pilling. Pilling tried to explain that he was tampering with his own car but he got no hearing, until he reached the tribunal of the desk sergeant at police headquarters.
