This lecture is designed to present a broad understanding of the impact of Latino players' place in baseball history. Early pioneers such as Minnie Miñoso, Juan Marichal, Orlando Cepeda and Roberto Clemente, paved the road for recent stars that include Albert Pujols, Ivan Rodriguez, and yes, Alex Rodriguez and Sammy Sosa. Their stories and struggles are a part of the American experience requiring a closer examination and appreciation.

Wednesday, February 23, 2011
Gerberding Hall, room 142
12:00 - 1:00 pm

LUNCH & DOOR PRIZES ARE PROVIDED!!