

Clinical Pathology Laboratory Director: New York City

The Department of Pathology at Columbia University is recruiting a clinical pathologist to function as the Assistant Director of the Core Laboratory on the Columbia University Campus of the New York Presbyterian Hospital and as the Laboratory Director of the Allen Pavilion. The Core Laboratory is responsible for 24/7 testing in Chemistry, Immunochemistry, Hematology, Coagulation, Urinalysis, Blood Gases, Whole Blood Testing, and Point of Care Testing. In 2008, the Core Lab performed ~3,500,000 billable tests. The Allen Pavilion laboratory is a full-service laboratory that performs ~350,000 billable tests/year. We seek an energetic MD or MD/PhD, who is BE/BC in Clinical Pathology and who possesses, or is eligible for, a NYSDOH COQ in all of the relevant areas. This individual will assist in the operational management of the Core Laboratory, oversee the operation of the Allen Pavilion Laboratory, and is expected to be familiar with the management of high volume laboratories providing inpatient, outpatient, and emergency services. As a faculty member in the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Columbia University, this individual will be expected to participate in medical student teaching, resident training, and patient-oriented and/or translational research. The presence of multiple clinical and research centers, including an NCI-funded Cancer Center, the Columbia Genome Center, and the Children's Hospital of New York provide additional opportunities for clinical service and research collaborations. Faculty rank will be commensurate with qualifications. Interested individuals should send a CV and a list of three references by April 1, 2009 to:
