

Master's Marshal #27

- I. Line up (12:00 p.m.): Go through the faculty security check-in at the Dempsey Indoor Practice Facility northeast of the stadium. Refer to the wall chart near the entrance for your line-up position and go to that position. As students begin arriving, assign them a line in which to march. A Student Lining Up Chart (available at rehearsal or from your team captain on the day of the ceremony) will guide you in lining up candidates by degree. Each line should contain approximately the same number of candidates. Candidates must stay in their assigned lines. Candidates wishing to sit together should be grouped in the same line (not next to each other in different lines).
- II. Procession (see diagram, page 2): The master's candidates will follow behind the doctoral candidates. Marshals at the entrance to the stadium will tell you when to proceed down the track. Follow the line of march shown on your processional diagram (green dotted line). When you reach position #27, you will be seating candidates in odd-labeled rows only in master's section #2. Seat 19 in the first row and 21 per row thereafter. Other marshals will assist you. If you run out of seats, direct students laterally to available seats in their degree section. After the master's candidates are seated, you may take your seat (see diagram).
- III. Master's march to the stage (see diagram, page 3): When the candidates for master's degrees are asked to come forward, go to position "f." (This is essentially the same as position 27.) Another marshal will actually lead the line of candidates to position "b." Beginning at "f," you direct candidates from their seats toward position "b." As each row leaves, move back to initiate the movement of the next row. A seating marshal will assist you. When the candidates are seated, you may take your seat.
- IV. Bachelor march to the stage (see diagram, page 4): When the bachelor candidates are asked to come forward, go to position "p." Candidates returning from the stage occasionally try to leave their lines and cut across to their seats via the corridors between the seating sections. At "p" you will block the corridor and ask them to remain in their lines. When the candidates are seated, take your seat.
- V. Recessional: Encourage students to remain in their seats until the President's and Deans' Parties have cleared the center aisle. You may join the faculty recessional as they pass you. Upon reaching the back of the stadium you may disperse with the rest of the faculty or exit via the tunnel to the faculty dressing room.
