Interprofessional Fellowship on Psychosocial Rehabilitation and Recovery Oriented Services

The Durham Veterans Affairs Medical Center Mental Health Service Line in Durham, N.C., announces openings for the 2018–2019 academic year of its Interprofessional Fellowship on Psychosocial Rehabilitation and Recovery Oriented Services (PSR Fellowship) for Veterans with serious mental illness (SMI) and substance use disorders (SUD). The PSR fellowship is a clinical training program that focuses on the theory and practice of psychosocial rehabilitation and treatment of substance use disorders. The fellowship provides individualized, mentored clinical and research training. The curriculum is designed to educate fellows on the use of comprehensive psychosocial rehabilitation approaches, evidence-based treatment for SUDs, and implementing change in mental health care settings. Fellows will work with Veterans with SMI (e.g., schizophrenia, schizoaffective disorder, bipolar disorder, major depression, PTSD) and SUDs (i.e., alcohol, drugs of abuse, tobacco). The purpose of the fellowship is to develop leaders with the vision and knowledge to help health care systems emphasize functional capability, rehabilitation, and recovery.

Fellows will have primary clinical experiences in the Psychosocial Rehabilitation and Recovery Center, the Mental Health Intensive Case Management program (an Assertive Community Treatment model program), and the Substance Use Disorders Clinic. Support is provided for each fellow to initiate or participate in a research, program evaluation, or education dissemination project. Supervision for licensure is supported. Fellows typically have the opportunity to complete one or more VA national training programs in evidence-based interventions. In the past, these have often included Social Skills Training for Schizophrenia and Motivational Interviewing. Additionally, didactics and clinical experiences are offered throughout the training year on a range of evidence-based practices (e.g., Wellness Recovery Action Planning, Illness Management and Recovery, cognitive behavioral therapy for SUD, tobacco cessation). Fellows receive significant training in both group and individual service delivery.

Fellows must be U.S. citizens and must be graduates of academic programs that are accredited by the nationally recognized accrediting bodies for the profession. Applications are invited from graduates of psychiatry residency programs, doctoral programs in clinical or counseling psychology, master's or doctoral programs in social work, master's or doctoral programs in mental health nursing, master's or doctoral programs in occupational therapy, master's programs in vocational rehabilitation, and Master of Divinity programs with four units of accredited clinical pastoral education. For psychology applicants, note that the PSR Fellowship is a track within the Durham VAMC psychology postdoctoral fellowship program, which is accredited by the Commission on Accreditation of the American Psychological Association (APA) and is a postdoctoral member of the Association of Psychology Postdoctoral and Internship Centers (APPIC). For occupational therapy applicants, the PSR Fellowship is an AOTA-Approved Fellowship Site accredited by the American Occupational Therapy Association. The PSR Fellowship is full-time. Stipends are competitive and vary by discipline. Stipend information is available upon request. Fellows are eligible for health and life insurance benefits. All fellows earn annual and sick leave and are entitled to all federal holidays.
