

13 Brave Giants vs Hudbay Minerals
By Pati Flores
Acrylic on canvas

MASTER OF SOCIAL WORK JOURNAL OF HUMAN RIGHTS
&
SOCIAL JUSTICE

Call for Submissions:

We are at a critical time in history where human rights are constantly being exploited and violated. Looking for collective awareness and action by inviting interdisciplinary masters level students locally and abroad to submit to the 2nd edition of the MSW Journal of Human Rights & Social Justice.

We welcome contributions of diverse academic papers, personal essays, poetry, or artwork that address human rights and social justice related to violence, poverty, the environment, indigenous and gender rights, among others... and the impact on human experience.

For more information email us at:

humanrights@pacificu.edu

Or visit:

www.pacificu.edu/msw/humanrights

In Focus:

This painting is about the 13 indigenous Mayan Q'eqchi' plaintiffs from Guatemala and their case against a Canadian Mining company - Hudbay Minerals. May the universe bring the light, strength and solidarity needed in this lucha and search for Justice, for Mother Earth; holding multinational mining companies responsible for the injustices in their bodies, land and life. This painting is for you-all; and for us to help tell and know your story. -P. Flores

For more info about this case visit Rights Actions at:

www.rightsaction.org

Submission Deadline:

April 15th, 2018

For submission guidelines
and to submit visit:

humanrights.scholasticahq.com