"Month of Learning," i.e., Transition from intern year to N1:

Our program recognizes the importance of the challenging yet exciting transition from the first year of residency to the first year of neurology. The last month of intern year for all of our incoming neurology residents is a dedicated didactics block. During this time our residents spend the mornings learning neuroradiology and the afternoons are devoted to a lecture series focusing on core topics in neurology that ease the transition from the medicine intern year to the world of neurology.
