

Martin Luther King Day of Service

Over fifty-two OMA&D student, staff and community volunteers came together at Seattle's Beacon Hill's Cheasty Greenspace Park with a unified purpose; to honor Martin Luther King Jr.(MLK). The MLK Day of Service has become an OMA&D tradition, serving the community with growing numbers of volunteers each year.

This year, volunteers performed maintenance on restoration sites. Throughout the Cheasty Greenspace's forty-three acres, groups of volunteers created and planted native trees and shrubs and removed non-native plants.
