

Office of Minority Affairs and Diversity WELCOME DAZE 2008

ASUW President Anttimo Bennett and UW President Mark A. Emmert at Welcome Daze 2008
Photo by Kristen Imig Photography

On Friday, September 19, 2008 the Office of Minority Affairs and Diversity hosted its 5th annual Welcome Daze. The OMA&D offers Welcome Daze to incoming students and families in conjunction with the University of Washington's Dawg Daze as a way to inform them of campus resources and to connect them with other incoming freshmen and transfer students. The event was held at the HUB and it included a welcome by President Mark A. Emmert, Provost Phyllis M. Wise and Vice President/Vice Provost Sheila Edwards Lange. Student speakers included ASUW President Anttimo Bennett and Student Advisory Board Co-Chairs Vanessa Vassall & Sabrina Fields.

The event featured a UW resource fair for the new students and their families. Representatives from OMA&D programs, UW departments, UW services, and student organizations were available to answer questions and give out information. Students also participated in a pinning ceremony to mark the beginning of their educational journey.

Student and their families at the resource fair.
Photo by Peter Scott

UW Provost Phyllis M. Wise speaks at Welcome Daze 2008
Photo by Kristen Imig Photography

Dr. Sheila Edwards Lange speaks to students at the resource fair.
Photo by Kristen Imig Photography