Spring 2016 Labor Studies Courses at the University of Washington

Full list now available at the Harry Bridges Center for Labor Studies website: http://depts.washington.edu/pcls/resources-courses.html

In Spring 2016, over a dozen Labor Studies-related courses will be offered at the UW Seattle and Tacoma campuses. All of these courses count towards a Minor in Labor Studies. Look below for a preview, or visit the Bridges Center website for a full listing complete with course details: http://depts.washington.edu/pcls/resources-courses.html

Spring Quarter 2016 registration begins February 12th and continues into March. Plan now and register early!

See a course missing from our list? Let us know at hbcls@u.washington.edu

Spring 2016 UW Labor Studies Courses

At the UW Seattle Campus:

AAS 101 – Asian American Studies
Moon-Ho Jung, Asian American Studies

AES 461 – Comparative Ethnic Race Relations in the Americas
Carolyn Pinedo-Turnovsky, American Ethnic Studies

CHID 480—Special Topics: Comparative Colonialism
Caroline Simpson, Comparative History of Ideas

ECON 443—Labor Market Analysis
Elaina Rose, Economics

ENV H 490—Physical Agents in the Workplace
Noah Seixas, Environmental Health

GEOG 123/JSIS 123—Introduction to Globalization

GEOG 342—Geography of Inequality
Kim England, Geography

HISTAA 353—Class, Labor and American Capitalism
James Gregory, History

LSJ 490—Topics in Comparative Legal Institutions: American Labor Studies and the Law
Meredith Loken, Law, Societies, and Justice

POL S 334—Topics in American Politics: Labor Activism, Protest, and Law
Lawrence Cushnie, Political Science

SOC 360—Introduction to Social Stratification
TBA, Sociology
At the UW Tacoma Campus:

T EGL 266—Introduction to Labor Studies
Alexander Morrow, Ethnic, Gender, and Labor Studies

T ARTS 406—Labor, Globalization, and Art
Beverly Naidus, Arts