

August, 2009

Dear Student:

Welcome to the University of Washington School of Pharmacy. I am pleased you have chosen our program and certain you will not be disappointed in the years to come. You will be challenged often during your training, but the faculty and I are convinced you have the intellectual skills to do well academically and to contribute significantly to the profession of pharmacy and to society.

Pharmacists are among the most respected professionals in the United States. Your presence in our program reflects our judgment that you will maintain and enhance the high regard in which our profession is held.

The success or failure of academic programs rests on three components: faculty, staff, and students. We are most fortunate to be distinguished in each of these components.

Sincerely,

Thomas A. Baillie, PhD, DSc
Dean