

Pharmacy Class of 2011 Pledge of Professionalism

We student pharmacists of University of Washington School of Pharmacy Class of 2011, pledge to uphold the highest standards of healthcare. Our highest priority is the well-being of our patients. We strive to:

- Devote ourselves to constant selflessness to ensure patients receive the utmost attention and care,
- Demonstrate empathy unconditionally to best serve our patients' needs,
- Promote benevolence amongst patients, colleagues, and the community by expressing kindness, goodwill and compassion with the intent of bettering the lives of others,
- Commit ourselves to lives of professional integrity and honesty by adhering to the highest ethical standards with patients and other healthcare providers,
- Accept our responsibility to serve and respect others and hold ourselves accountable in our role as healthcare providers,
- And dedicate ourselves to life-long education, advancement of the pharmacy profession, and patient advocacy.
