

Public Health Genetics 580
Interactive Seminar Series

COURSE INSTRUCTORS:

Melissa Austin, PhD
Director, IPHG
Professor, Epidemiology

Office: HSB Room F363-B
Phone: 206.543.0709
Email: maustin@u.washington.edu

S. Malia Fullerton, PhD
Assistant Professor
Medical History and Ethics

Office: Health Sciences Building A-204M
Phone: 206.616.1864
Email: smflrtn@u.washington.edu

Welcome to the Public Health Genetics Interactive Seminar Series. This Seminar Series offers an opportunity TO ENGAGE with experts from a variety of disciplines, TO CONSIDER possible research or practicum opportunities, and TO PARTICIPATE in interdisciplinary discussion around issues central to public health genetics.

COURSE OBJECTIVES

By the end of this course, students should be able to:

1. Describe and discuss current issues in research and practice in public health genetics and related disciplines.
2. Engage interactively in discussion of selected research topics.

COURSE EXPECTATIONS

The success of this seminar is largely dependent on you. We will do our best to invite provocative, interesting speakers from a variety of disciplinary and practice backgrounds. For your part, we expect that you will:

- Attend all sessions
 - Sign in at each session. No more than 2 sessions per quarter can be missed to receive credit for the course.
 - If you must miss a seminar, it must be made-up by watching a video of that seminar. In the event that the video is not available for that seminar (for technical reasons or because the speaker declined to have the session recorded), you can watch a video from a seminar within the last year that you did not attend. Current quarter tapes will be on reserve in the Health Sciences Library. Previous quarter tapes are available in the Public Health Genetics office. (HSB F363).

- Occasionally, missed sessions can be made-up by attending other talks around campus on topics of relevance to public health genetics. These must be pre-approved by the instructor before attending such talks.
- When you have made-up a missed seminar, please notify Barbara Snyder (bsnyder@u.washington.edu).
- As noted above, even with “make-ups,” a maximum of 2 sessions can be missed to receive credit.
- In the rare event that you have a required course that conflicts with the seminar time, contact the instructors well before the quarter begins to make arrangements.
- Engage and participate in discussions with the speaker and your colleagues
 - Seminar, by definition, implies discussion and exchange
- Contact Barbara Snyder (bsnyder@u.washington.edu) in advance if you anticipate any problems meeting the requirements.

COURSE WEBSITE <https://courses.washington.edu/phg580/>