Are you interested in or already involved with street outreach, medicine or nursing? Join students and community members who are invested in developing a street nursing project for this screening of Bevel Up. Stay after for a follow-up dialogue with author and activist Dr. Gabor Maté, which will address the ins and outs of developing street outreach programming and practices that work effectively at the intersections of health care, harm reduction, and drug use.

For more information about the screening, contact Kaelyn Caldwell at caldweka@uw.edu.

For more information about the Street Outreach Nursing Project, contact Eric Seitz at eseitz@uw.edu.
