

We also discussed how a noun can be turned into a verb. and vice versa. A verb is action. A noun is the one doing the acting. You might say: Pa-sitkumsaan-isha ayat ku iwinsh. The man and woman are eating their noon lunch. Why? Because the sun overhead tells you it might be around noon.

Here some more words:

laxuyxt hot Aan iwa laxuyxt. The sun is hot.

ayayat beautiful Shwat'ash iwa ayayat.
The cloud is beautiful.

Iksiks small K'usik'usi iwa iksiks.
The dog is small.

These are adjectives you have already learned. If you had your notes with you today, you would find it. If you had your notes alphabetized, like I asked you to do, you'd find it right away. Adjectives describe what it looks like to you.

I suggest when you take this test, you have all of your notes on hand. This will be a written test taken from your notes. You will write down sentences about each item in this picture before you. I will not accept these examples I gave you in this paper. Make up your own sentences.

See you,

Teacher, Beavert