

Mary C. James
 Homework for 2/11/92
 Sakaptiv II - Virginia Bevent

Patterns with Verbs

| VerbDefinition         | kwáta(eat)                                     | wáyx ti(run)                                       | wáasha(dance)  | tima(write)                                      |
|----------------------------|--|--|--|--|
| Present(ing)           | kwátasha(eating)                               | wáyx tisha(running)                                | wáashasha(dancing)                                   | timasha(writing)                                 |
| I am                       | kwátashash(I am eating.)                       | wáyx tishash(I am running)                         | wáashashash(I am dancing)                            | timashash(I am writing)                          |
| We are                     | kwátashatash(we are riding.)                   | wáyx tishatash(we are running)                     | wáashashatash(we are dancing.)                       | timashatash(we are writing)                      |
| you folks are              | kwátashapam(you folks are eating.)             | wáyx tishapam(you folks are running)               | wáashashapam(you folks are dancing)                  | timashapam(you folks are writing)                |
| He is                      | Itkwátasha(he is eating)                       | Iwáyx tisha(he is running)                         | Iwáashasha(he is dancing)                            | Itimasha(he is writing)                          |
| They are                   | Patkwátasha(they are eating)                   | Pa wáyx tisha(they are running.)                   | Pa wáashasha(they are dancing)                       | Patimasha(they are writing)                      |
| He used to                 | Ikwátaxana(He used to eat)                     | Iwáyx tixana(He used to run)                       | Iwáashaxana(He used to dance)                        | Itimaxana(He used to write)                      |
| They will be               | Patkwátashata(They will be eating.)            | Pa wáyx tishata(They will be running.)             | Pa wáashashata(They will be dancing.)                | Patimashata(They will be writing)                |
| He would have              | Ikwátaxanay(He would have eaten)               | Iwáyx tixanay(He would have run)                   | Iwáashaxanay(He would have danced)                   | Itimaxanay(He would have written)                |
| It is said theyused to | Patkwátaxanaakut(It is said they used to eat.) | Pa wáyx tixanaakut(It is said they used torun) | Pa wáashaxanaakut(It is said they usedto dance.) | Patimaxanaakut(It is said they usedto write) |
| Noun                       | kwátat - eat, eating                               | wáyx tit (run, running)                                | wáashatdance, dancing                                | timatwrite, writing                              |
| Noun                       | itkwátata - person who eats                        | wáyx titarunner                                    | wáashatadancer                                       | timatawriter                                     |