Elizabeth Hendren (she/her) and Riddhi Mukhopadhyay (she/they) join us to present 30,000 Feet View of RCW 26.09.191: Understanding Recent Statutory Changes. In all parenting plan cases, courts must determine whether to impose limitations/restrictions on parents to protect children when a parent acts contrary to the health and well-being of the child. Key changes to RCW 26.09.191 reorganized and clarified the statute and made several substantive changes, going into effect July 27, 2025. This Education Forum is intended to provide a broad overview of these changes, including identify how the statutory changes may affect the role of healthcare and social work professionals.
