

Warren G. Magnuson Institute for Biomedical Research and Health Professions Training

Invitation for Magnuson Scholars Applications for the 2013-2014 Academic Year

Each of the six University of Washington Health Sciences Schools is invited to nominate a student for selection as Magnuson Scholars for the 2013-2014 academic year. The final review of the Magnuson Scholars candidates will be made by Health Sciences Administration based upon the Schools' nominees meeting eligibility and selection criteria. The Institute's projected total award for each school's scholar in 2013-14 will be approximately $25,000.

Eligibility

- Magnuson Scholars are selected annually from applicants nominated by each of the six University of Washington Health Sciences Schools.
- Students must be enrolled in a graduate program in the health professions at the University of Washington.
- Students may be nominated in consecutive years by their respective schools.
- At least one Magnuson Scholar will be selected in a career pathway preparing for or engaged in research related to diabetes, its antecedents, or complications.

Criteria for Selection

- Scholars will be selected based upon academic performance and/or promise and the students' potential contributions to research in the health sciences.
- Special consideration will be given to Washington state residents and students of underrepresented groups in the Health Sciences Schools.

Procedure for Application

By 2/28/2013 each school should email the name of the nominated student and the required application materials for each nominee:

- Current program transcript
- One-page statement of career objectives
- One-page letter of recommendation from the supervising faculty member

Magnuson Scholars Program nomination and application materials should be emailed to Peggy Smith, psmith83@uw.edu Receipt of materials will be acknowledged within one business day. Please contact Health Sciences Administration at 3-7202 with questions.
