

Warren G. Magnuson Institute for Biomedical Research and Health Professions Training

Invitation for Magnuson Scholars Applications 2021-2022 Academic Year

Each of the six University of Washington Health Sciences Schools is invited to nominate a student for selection as a Magnuson Scholar for the 2021-2022 academic year. The final review of the Magnuson Scholar nomination applications will be made by Health Sciences Administration, confirming that the Schools' nominees meeting eligibility and selection criteria. The Institute's projected total award for each school's scholar in 2021-22 will be approximately $30,000. The actual amount is determined by the endowment fund performance and will be set in March 2021.

Eligibility

- The Magnuson Scholars are selected annually from applicants nominated by each of the six University of Washington Health Sciences Schools: Dentistry, Medicine, Nursing, Pharmacy, Public Health, and Social Work.
- Students must be enrolled in a graduate program in the health professions at the University of Washington and registered for at least one credit at the time of the scholarship disbursements which are scheduled for summer quarter 2021 and winter quarter 2022, during the 2021-22 academic year.
- Students may be nominated in consecutive years by their respective schools.
- In accordance with Washington State Law, at least one Magnuson Scholar must be in a career pathway preparing for or engaged in research related to diabetes, its antecedents, or complications.

Selection Criteria

- Scholars will be selected based upon academic performance and/or promise and the students' potential contributions to research in the health sciences.
- Special consideration will be given to Washington State residents and students of underrepresented groups in the Health Sciences Schools.

Application Procedure

By March 5, 2021 EOB each school should submit the name of the nominated student and the required application materials for each nominee:

- Current program transcript (official transcript required)
- One-page statement of career objectives
- One-page letter of recommendation from the supervising faculty member
