

Women in Genome Sciences Seminar

Sponsored by Women in Genome Sciences

Erin Cline-Davis

Erin is a scientific communications supervisor at Weber Shandwick. A cell biologist-turned-science writer, Erin also has experience as a science writer for the personal genomics company 23andMe, a freelance grant editor, and a freelance science and health reporter, contributing articles to newspapers like the L.A. Times. Her transition from the bench to the keyboard was a natural one, as both jobs depend on the things she does best: gathering information, figuring out how it all fits together, and conveying the big picture.

Erin Cline-Davis

Scientific Communications Supervisor
Weber Shandwick

“Trading in My Pipetman for a Keyboard:
One Scientist's Experience
Leaving the Bench for a Career in Scientific Communications”

Friday, April 1, 2011

1:30pm – 2:30pm

Foege Auditorium, S060

Refreshments served in the Auditorium at 1:20pm

Questions? Contact Jenny Wagner at jmwagner@uw.edu or visit the Women in Genome Sciences website at <http://depts.washington.edu/womengs/wordpress/>

The University of Washington is committed to providing access, equal opportunity and reasonable accommodations in its services, programs, activities, education and employment of individuals with disabilities.

To request disability accommodations contact the Disability Services Office at least ten days in advance at: 206.543.6450/V, 206.543.6452/TTY, 206.685.7264 (FAX), or e-mail at dso@u.washington.edu