CONTENTS

Special Issue: Ethnography and multidisciplinarity in the drug field

EDITORIAL
Ethnography and multidisciplinarity in the drug field
David Moore, Lisa Maher (Australia) .................................................. 245–247

COMMENTARY
How the drug field turned my beard grey
Michael Agar (USA) ................................................................. 249–258
Anthropology and epidemiology on drugs: the challenges of cross-methodological and theoretical dialogue
Philippe Bourgois (USA) ............................................................. 259–269
Ethnography and the Australian drug field: emaciation, appropriation and multidisciplinary myopia
David Moore (Australia) ............................................................ 271–284

ORIGINAL PAPERS
An ethno-epidemiological model for the study of trends in illicit drug use: reflections on the 'emergence' of crack injection
Michael C. Clatts, Dorinda L. Welle, Lloyd A. Goldsam, Stephen E. Lankenau (USA) ......................... 285–295
Coexisting in the real world: the problems, surprises and delights of being an ethnographer on a multidisciplinary research project
Ric Curtis (USA) ........................................................................ 297–310
Don't leave us this way: ethnography and injecting drug use in the age of AIDS
Lisa Maher (Australia) .............................................................. 311–325
The application of ethnography, with reference to harm reduction in Sverdlovsk Russia
Robert Power (UK) .................................................................. 327–331

BOOK REVIEWS
Anthea Martin (UK) ................................................................. 333–334
Understanding and responding to drug use: the role of qualitative research, European Monitoring Centre for Drugs and Drug Addiction, Scientific Monograph Series No. 4: Edited by Jane Fountain, Office for Official Publications of the European Communities, Luxembourg, 2000
Edward MacRae (Brazil) ......................................................... 334–335

Instructions to Authors

This journal is part of ContentsDirect, the free alerting service which sends tables of contents by e-mail for Elsevier Science books and journals. You can register for ContentsDirect online at: http://contentsdirect.elsevier.com