The Airline Flight Attendants’ fight to end smoking aloft

Edited by David M Burns and K Michael Cummings

Contents

Editorial
i1  Public health and the power of individual action
    J B Richmond, D M Burns, K M Cummings

Commentary
i3  How did we get here?
    R A Daynard

Illustrated history
i4  Smoking aloft: an illustrated history
    A Blum

Research papers
i8  Flying the smoky skies: secondhand smoke exposure of flight attendants J Repace
i20 A tobacco industry study of airline cabin air quality: dropping inconvenient findings K Neilsen, S A Glantz

i30  Clearing the airways: advocacy and regulation for smoke-free airlines A L Holm, R M Davis
i37  Airport smoking rooms don’t work M Pion, M S Givel
i41  Tobacco industry efforts to present ventilation as an alternative to smoke-free environments in North America
    J Drope, S A Bialous, S A Glantz i48  Carcinogen derived biomarkers: applications in studies of human exposure to secondhand tobacco smoke S S Hecht
i57  Adverse effects of smoke exposure on the upper airway J M Samet
i61  Lawsuits and secondhand smoke
    E L Sweda Jr

FAMRI
i67  Flight Attendant Medical Research Institute (FAMRI)
    B Kress

NEW ONLINE SUBMISSION GO TO WEBSITE TO SUBMIT YOUR MANUSCRIPT

www.tobaccocontrol.com