14 Drug Courts and Adolescents
Robert Schwebel, PhD
Nowhere is the deviation from the traditional counseling role more obvious than in drug treatment for adolescents. Find out how drug courts offer a unique opportunity to move the field of adolescent drug treatment back to where it belongs.

COVER STORY & FEATURES

20 Lessons Learned: Implementing Substance Abuse Treatment Services for Welfare Reform Recipients
Katherine Sessions Jacob, LCSW, Edward L. Hendrickson, MS, LMFT, and Cheryl Wallace, MA, Ed
Welfare reform has made significant strides in moving individuals from the welfare rolls to the work force. However, not all welfare recipients are effectively making this transition. Explore one community’s effort to integrate substance abuse treatment services with welfare reform activities.

30 The Agony of Ecstasy
Ria Romano, MA
Developed by Merck in Germany 90 years ago, the use of MDMA is now considered an epidemic in teenagers. Follow the history of “X” from 1912 to 2002.

36 Harnessing Technology — The Cyber Practice
Edward Geraty, LCSW-C, CCDC
Many counselors are overwhelmed and avoidant of the wonderful opportunities the Internet and technology present. Learn the basics so that you will no longer be “cyber phobic” and will be able to develop a successful “cyber practice.”

48 The Silent Killer: Inhalant Abuse
Maxim W. Furek, MA, CAC
Huffing (inhalant abuse) is one of the most dangerous drug experiments children will ever try, literally cutting off the brain’s oxygen supply. Given the fact that huffing is a reckless and dangerous practice, why then do so many children huff? There are several explanations for this dangerous behavior.
7 As I See It
Bill B. Burnett, LPC, MAC
President of NAADAC offers a public health solution.

54 First Person
Gary W. Reece, PhD
Unmourned Losses

59 History
William L. White, MA
The Treatment Renewal Movement

COLUMNS & DEPARTMENTS

8 Letter from the ED
Letter of introduction from NAADAC Executive Director Patricia Ford-Roegner, MSW, ACSW, RN, FAAN.

10 In Brief
Exclusive to Counselor; the NIAAA and CSAT profile recent activities within their organizations.

57 CE Quiz
Earn CE credits with this quiz.

58 Assessment Tools
Screening Test for Obsessive Compulsive Disorder.

62 Media Review

66 Eye on Washington
Terror attacks not expected to hurt drug treatment budgets.

66 MAC/NCAC List

67 Insider’s Information
Alan Lesher, PhD, leaves NIDA and Enoch Gordis, MD, director of the NIAAA retires.

68 Classifieds

69 Referral Directory

76 Approved Education Providers and NAADAC Organizational Members

78 Advertiser’s Index