THE ANATOMY OF RESILIENCE: WHAT MAKES SOME CLIENTS 'BOUNCE BACK' BETTER THAN OTHERS?
Addiction counselors will be most effective at treating clients when the focus is not on what's wrong, but on what's strong. By Patricia O'Gorman, PhD

HISTORY

RECOVERY: The Next Frontier By William L. White, MA

FIRST PERSON
A Journalist's Journey into Painkillers and Addiction By Barry Meier

WHEN KIDS WON'T (OR CAN'T) COME FOR HELP: TREATING SUBSTANCE ABUSING PARENTS TO HELP THEIR CHILDREN
New research suggests Parent Skills Couple Therapy positively impacts children of addicted parents. Learn what you need to know about the approach. By Cynthia A. Stappenbeck, MA, Timothy Logsdon, MSEd, NCC, Christie Gorman, MA, CASAC, and William Fals-Stewart, PhD

PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT
On the Merits of Cliffhangers By Howard Rosenthal, EdD, MAC

POLICY
Follow the Money: The Federal Anti-Drug Budget By Mathea Falco, JD

SAVING THE FORGOTTEN CHILDREN: ADDICTION, KIDS, AND FAMILY RECOVERY
Look inside the Betty Ford Center's groundbreaking four-day Children's Program that's helping children from addicted families positively cope with the challenges they face. By Jerry Moe, MA

PREVENTION
Why Prevention Certification? By Jim Scarborough and Angie Wainwright

ALTERNATIVE THERAPIES
The Rubenfeld Synergy Method® By Diane L. Nadler, CSW, BCD

PHARM REPORT
Clear Liquid Trouble: GHB By Cardwell C. Nuckols, PhD

GENERATIONS FIGHTING ADDICTION: HOW INFORMED GRANDPARENTS CAN HELP THEIR FAMILIES RECOVER
More concerned grandparents are showing up at U.S. treatment centers with questions about their child's addiction, and how to best help their grandchildren. Here's what you need to help them find answers. By Marion Torchio, PhD

OPINION
Brain Chemistry Cowboys vs. the Ancient Sages By George Ochsfield, MHS, CADC, LCPC

THE SIX C'S: COGNITIVE-BEHAVIORAL RECOVERY TOOLS
Explore six techniques for helping clients create new habits that will place them in control of their addictions and their lives. By William A. Hovatt, PhD, EdD, ICADC

ON THE WEB
When Drug Companies Reach Our Patients First By Stuart Gitlow, MD

COMMON SHOCK: WITNESSING VIOLENCE IN CLIENTS' LIVES
The counselor's choice to hear "what others fear is unspeakable" is not without biological, psychological, and interpersonal consequences. Learn why it's time to speak out about the demands of your work. By Kaethe Weingarten, PhD

CE QUIZ
Earn credits with this exam.

RESEARCH TO PRACTICE
Alcohol-Caused Impairment and Early Treatment By Michael J. Taleff, PhD, CSAC, MAC

ASSESSMENT TOOLS
Parents of Substance-Abusing Children Interview

REFERRAL DIRECTORY
Classifieds

ADVERTISERS INDEX