Departments

4 Letter from the Editor
Our focus is on what works.

6 Commentary
The discussion starts with defining terms.
By Carlton K. Erickson, Ph.D.

8 Advocacy
Clinicians need to get behind the federal government’s National Treatment Plan, say officials with NAADAC, The Association for Addiction Professionals.

36 Of Note
News, announcements and other developments from the field

38 Book Review
Dealing with a ‘treatment-resistant’ client?
Maybe it’s not the client who has to change.
By Gary Eoes

39 From the Sales Director
Addiction Professional’s national sales director, Paul Newman, talks about connecting buyers and sellers in our new magazine.

Features

12 COVER STORY: Managing Relapse: How Strict is Too Strict?
Addiction treatment programs want to enforce their rules of conduct, but also don’t want to risk losing a client who is expelled from or leaves treatment. Experts discuss balancing these two goals for optimal results.
By Colleen Fitzpatrick

21 ADHD and Addiction Treatment: Assessing a Difficult Medication Decision
Joseph A. Troncal, M.D., medical director at the Caron Foundation, analyzes the dilemma that stimulant medication use presents for treating patients with co-occurring addiction and attention-deficit/hyperactivity disorder.

24 Today’s More Flexible TC Benefits Diverse Populations
Peter Provet, Ph.D., president of Odyssey House, discusses how the therapeutic community model of treatment can and must accommodate the needs of families, adolescents and other target populations.

30 Counseling Professionals Must Adjust to Changing Demands
Patrice M. Muchowski, vice president of clinical services at AdCare Hospital of Worcester, describes how demands from consumers, funders and others in the field are requiring an expanded knowledge base for front-line clinical professionals.