Mission

The Design Machine Group is a research team in the Department of Architecture at the University of Washington investigating the intersection of architectural design and computing. We create design tools that push the boundaries of computer aided design. We explore new forms of communication, collaboration and coordination among designers made possible by information technology. We build computationally enhanced environments: virtual worlds and electronically enhanced physical places.