Meany Hall for the Performing Arts Privacy Policy

Welcome to Meany Hall for the Performing Arts web site. This web site is designed to:
• provide information about the venue and its programs
• provide UW Arts Ticket Office online ticket services
• accept online requests and donations

We recognize the public’s concern about privacy on the internet.

Security
Meany Hall for the Performing Arts makes every effort to ensure the security of its network and systems. We have a valid 128-bit-SSL Certificate and all of our financial transactions are encrypted over the SSL connection.

The University of Washington, which owns and operates Meany Hall for the Performing Arts, is an agency of the State of Washington and as such is subject to the provisions of the Washington Public Disclosure Act (Chapter 42.17 RCW).

Mailing Address, Phone Numbers and Email Addresses
Meany Hall for the Performing Arts collects this information to inform patrons of the UW Arts Ticket Office about upcoming events, changes in programs, filling ticket requests or to ask support for our organizations.

Occasionally, we trade our mailing lists with other Seattle arts organizations. We do not sell or trade phone numbers or e-mail addresses.

Choice/Opt Out
If you would like to update your personal information or if you do not wish to receive updates and information from Meany Hall or any of the organizations that use the UW Arts Ticket Office (UW World Series, UW School of Drama, UW School of Music, UW Dance Program, UW DX ARTS program) you may opt out by contacting us by email, phone or mail:

    UW Arts Ticket Office
    4001 University Way NE
    Seattle, WA 98105
    (206) 543-4880
    ticket@u.washington.edu

When you contact us, please indicate if you do not wish to receive mail, phone calls, emails or have your mailing information traded to other Seattle arts organizations.

Links
Our website contains links to other community web sites. Meany Hall for the Performing Arts is not responsible for their content or their privacy practices.