

American College of Sports Medicine
2017 Citation Award
Presented to
Jack W. Berryman, Ph.D., FACSM

It is a great honor to present an ACSM 2017 Citation Award to Dr. Jack W. Berryman. Dr. Berryman is Professor Emeritus in the Department of Bioethics and Humanities and Adjunct Professor Emeritus in the Department of Orthopaedics and Sports Medicine in the School of Medicine at the University of Washington. Dr. Berryman earned a B.S. from Lock Haven State College, a M.S. and M.A. from the University of Massachusetts, Amherst, and a Ph.D. from the University of Maryland.

Dr. Berryman's many contributions include serving as Editor of the Journal of Sport History (1977-84) and President of the North American Society for Sport History (1989-91). He coedited Sport and Exercise Science: Essays in the History of Sports Medicine, the first book in this field, in 1992. Dr. Berryman received the Distinguished Service Award for Exceptional Contributions from the North American Society for Sport History in 1996. For 30 years, Dr. Berryman taught a one-of-a-kind class on the history of sports medicine and was a devoted thesis and dissertation mentor. He published more than 60 peer-reviewed scholarly articles and book chapters and is a popular consultant for the media. Dr. Berryman is also a Fellow in the American Academy of Kinesiology and Physical Education.

Dr. Berryman has been singularly responsible for preserving the history of the American College of Sports Medicine as the organization's official historian, Chair of the Office of Museum, History, and Archives, and author of Out of Many, One: A History of the American College of Sports Medicine (1995). He was invited to present the D.B. Dill Historical Lecture at the 1994 and the 2004 ACSM national meetings. Dr. Berryman's work to record the history of ACSM and to honor the careers of ACSM's leaders is preserved in the 10 volume DVD series, ACSM's Distinguished Leaders in Sports Medicine and Exercise Science, his legacy to the organization and to the fields of sports medicine and exercise science. Based on his collective accomplishments, Dr. Berryman is a most worthy recipient of the ACSM Citation Award.