The Barnard Center is collaborating on a new Global Innovation Fund project: “Using Online Learning and Onsite Trainings to Build Mental Health Treatment Capacity”

Participants:

China - Capital Institute of Pediatrics, Peru - Universidad Cayetano, Kenya - University of Nairobi, Chile - Universidad Alberto Hurtado

Collaborators:

The project will address a critical need to increase global workforce capacity to promote the mental health of parents and children. Using an innovative capacity building model, collaborators will offer online interactive learning and onsite collaborations. These activities will provide essential support for the development of a global network of mental health trainers and providers.
