TRUST seeks to provide a continuous connection between rural, small city underserved communities, medical education, and health professionals in our region. Our goal is to create a full-circle pipeline by guiding qualified students through a special curriculum that connects continuity communities in WWAMI to the University of Washington School of Medicine and its network of affiliated residency programs in an effort to help meet the workforce needs of the region.

Hello Dillon!

My name is Julie Campbell, and it is great to be back in town for the summer! As a TRUST student with the WWAMI medical school program through University of Washington, I am back for a month-long clinical experience. This will be my fourth time in town, and I appreciate you welcoming me to Dillon once again. I look forward to spending time with a variety of providers and learning more about medicine and the community!

I just wrapped up my first year of medical school in Bozeman, my hometown, and I am happy to be out of the classroom and in the clinic. I loved spending the winter skiing, including an incredible powder day at Maverick, and look forward to seeking out new hikes and summer adventures during my free time here. Any suggestions are welcome!

Thanks for sharing your town and welcoming me as always! Here's to a great summer!
