TRUST seeks to provide a continuous connection between rural, small city underserved communities, medical education, and health professionals in our region. Our goal is to create a full-circle pipeline by guiding qualified students through a special curriculum that connects continuity communities in WWAMI to the University of Washington School of Medicine and its network of affiliated residency programs in an effort to help meet the workforce needs of the region.

Hello, Shelton! I am Cheyenne. After growing up in small town Fall City, Washington, I am beyond excited to enter the UWSOM as a TRUST scholar! Receiving the best training in rural medicine will enable me to give back as a physician to small towns like my hometown.

I attended college while still in high school through Running Start; I earned my Associate's Degree at the same time as my high school diploma. I then went on to earn two Bachelor's of Science degrees, in Biology and Psychology, from the University of Washington.

Since my college graduation, I have been working as a medical assistant for a rural urgent and primary care practice. My work experience has allowed me to see how medicine truly works on a day-to-day basis including the challenges, thrills and non-medical nuances faced by both providers and patients alike. I know this experience will serve me well as I begin my medical school journey.

When not working or studying, I love spending time with my family and my dogs. I am an avid runner and hiker. I look forward to exploring beautiful Mason County and the many trails of the Pacific Northwest. I am excited about developing lasting relationships with my preceptor, Dr. Keep, his colleagues and the many patients we will care for together.
