TRUST seeks to provide a continuous connection between rural, small city underserved communities, medical education, and health professionals in our region. Our goal is to create a full-circle pipeline by guiding qualified students through a special curriculum that connects continuity communities in WWAMI to the University of Washington School of Medicine and its network of affiliated residency programs in an effort to help meet the workforce needs of the region.

Hello Glasgow! My name is Justinn Marshall, and I could not be more excited to be starting my journey as a TRUST medical student in Glasgow this summer!

I grew up just down the road, outside Saco on my family's ranch. My parents are Dale and Sue Marshall, and I have two older sisters, Kelly and Trista. After graduating from Saco in 2010, I attended Rocky Mountain College in Billings for one year before finishing my degrees in biology and health and human performance at the University of Montana Western in Dillon this past May. While earning my undergraduate degrees, I also played college basketball for two years and competed in college rodeo for four years.

In my spare time I enjoy being on the ranch, rodeoing, playing basketball, spending time with family and friends, and mentoring local girls in their rodeo events and basketball skills. Growing up in a rural area has truly been a blessing to me, and I am very eager to become a part of a rural health care team.

Having the opportunity to spend time throughout medical school at a hospital that is so close to home is thrilling. I was born at Frances Mahon Deaconess Hospital, and now I have come full circle in that I will be training to become a doctor here.

Thank you for welcoming me into your community, and I look forward to meeting you all!
