Entering Class of 2015

TRUST seeks to provide a continuous connection between rural, small city underserved communities, medical education, and health professionals in our region. Our goal is to create a full-circle pipeline by guiding qualified students through a special curriculum that connects continuity communities in WWAMI to the University of Washington School of Medicine and its network of affiliated residency programs in an effort to help meet the workforce needs of the region.

Greetings Libby!

My name is Riley Grogan and I am absolutely thrilled to begin my medical training with you as a first year medical student! I was born and raised on the shores of Flathead Lake, in the beautiful town of Polson, Montana. Having grown up in such a wonderful community, I have a deep appreciation for life in rural Montana.

As a true Montanan, I love spending my time outdoors. On my days off, I love being active and often devote my free time to hiking, hunting and fly fishing.

After graduating high school, I briefly attended the United States Air Force Academy before I eventually settled in at Carroll College in Helena, Montana. There, I majored in biology and minored in leadership studies. I was also very fortunate to participate in the Carroll College Army Reserve Officer Training Corps (ROTC) program. Upon graduation, I commissioned into the Montana National Guard where I will serve as a Medical Corps Officer with the Montana Medical Detachment. During my time in Helena, I also became an Emergency Medical Technician. I began working in this capacity with Polson-Ronan Ambulance Service in 2013 and I am incredibly grateful for all of the experiences and friendships I have gained at that job.

I am both honored and excited to be able to start my medical education in the beautiful town of Libby! Thank you very much for welcoming me into your community and I look forward to meeting and working with you in June!
