Entering Class of 2015

TRUST seeks to provide a continuous connection between rural, small city underserved communities, medical education, and health professionals in our region. Our goal is to create a full-circle pipeline by guiding qualified students through a special curriculum that connects continuity communities in WWAMI to the University of Washington School of Medicine and its network of affiliated residency programs in an effort to help meet the workforce needs of the region.

Hello Nampa! My name is Tate Saurey, and I grew up in Melba, Idaho, just thirteen miles away! I'm proud and excited to call myself a University of Washington medical student, and I look forward to training in Nampa, a place where I have already made so many great memories. I learned to wake-board on Lake Lowell, worked as a scribe in the local ER, have loved going to events and movies at the Northern Lights Theater, and my daughter was born in the new Garrity Medical Center. Though I have not decided on a future specialty, I know that I love working with the underserved and the Hispanic community. I am excited to continue developing my ability to speak Spanish, and my wife and I look forward to continued adventures in the Treasure Valley!
