Malawi is training Family Doctors to provide quality primary health care services to individuals, families, and communities. The Department of Family Medicine aims to support the continued development of Malawian-led interprofessional education, research, clinical education, and health systems leadership. The world is waiting to see what Family Medicine can do in African health systems.

WWAMI/MALAWI ACADEMIC PARTNERSHIP

UNIVERSITY OF MALAWI, COLLEGE OF MEDICINE

WWAMI-AFFILIATED FAMILY MEDICINE RESIDENCY PROGRAMS

SEED GLOBAL HEALTH

PROVIDENCE /ST. JOSEPH HEALTH GLOBAL PARTNERSHIPS

---

Who should apply?

- Family Medicine residents, affiliated with the WWAMI or Providence/St Joseph’s networks, who are currently in their 2\(^{nd}\) or 3\(^{rd}\) year of training
- Residents interested in global health, global family medicine development, clinical teaching, population health, and/or health systems strengthening.

Cost $ 1,500-2,000.

Housing is provided for residents while in country.

Residents will need to cover airfare and personal expenditures.

(If you are a Swedish/Providence-affiliated resident, contact Carrie Schonwald once approved for help facilitating travel logistics)

Faculty oversight:

Dr. Anna McDonald: working in Malawi since 2015, Faculty at Swedish First Hill and University of Malawi College of Medicine.

Dr. Jacob Nettleton: working in Malawi since 2017, Faculty at University of Malawi College of Medicine, supported by Seed Global Health.

Local faculty also support our residents in various roles.

Evaluation

Residents will be expected to evaluate their experience both for the purposes of this partnership as well as to help improve the rotation for residents in the future.

Residents will be evaluated by those with whom they work—both faculty and local staff/students.
