Targeted Rural UnderServed Track

Montana

Entering Class of 2018

TRUST seeks to provide a continuous connection between rural, small city underserved communities, medical education, and health professionals in our region. Our goal is to create a full-circle pipeline by guiding qualified students through a special curriculum that connects continuity communities in WWAMI to the University of Washington School of Medicine and its network of affiliated residency programs in an effort to help meet the workforce needs of the region.

Hello Anaconda!

I'm Robin Alexis Byron, and I'm extremely excited to have the opportunity to join your community as a medical student.

Born and raised in Hardin, I moved to Portland, Oregon, after high school to pursue a degree in the liberal arts. Having decided that my interests lie firmly in the realm of the sciences, I graduated in 2015 in biology. I've spent most of the three years since in the beautiful countries of Mozambique & South Africa. I served as a Community Health Outreach specialist with the Peace Corps, working in youth health education and Improving access to girls' education.

I am interested in nearly any subject related to health and healthcare, however tangentially, and am passionate about providing quality care to everyone. I love to read, just about anything I can get my hands on, and I'm an ecology buff; I love learning about the waterways, flora, and fauna of my home state!
