Hello everyone! This is Hope, your disembodied writing buddy from the Odegaard Writing and Research Center at the University of Washington, here with some exciting news about Write for You. Since releasing Season 1 of this podcast, we have been thrilled to hear all of the positive responses from you, the listeners. I'm so excited to announce that Season 2 is on the horizon! We will be coming back better than ever this spring with 5 brand new episodes featuring 10 new guests from programs across the university. It has been an absolute pleasure to get to know these writers and I can't wait to share this new season with you. Stay tuned!
