

Working On It!

Strategies for your writing process

Index of Strategies & Techniques

"Working on It" is a resource guide created by the Odegaard Writing & Research Center that connects graduate-level writers with strategies and techniques that can augment, refine, and streamline their writing process. Below is a complete list of these techniques and strategies. Browse them here or explore the graphic to find information, suggestions, and commentary from fellow graduate student writers:

- Habitual writing
- Writing in community
- Timed writing sessions
- Reflective writing notes
- Visual revision techniques