We are excited to welcome Katie and look forward to the launch of the new Northwest Hospital Palliative Care Clinic. Katie has served as a current Charge RN and Case Manager for the HMC Outpatient Palliative and Supportive Care Program. She holds a BS in Nursing from Emory University, an MS in Health Services Administration from St. Louis University, and she is a certified hospice case manager. Katie has been a nurse for 17 years and has worked in nursing in the United States that provides both palliative and primary care patients with end-of-life care.

Katie is planning to present this vision to the UW Medicine leadership soon. The Palliative Care Center at UW Medicine and the CEO of UW Medicine are developing a strategic vision for the delivery of palliative care services. The Center has supported the three Operations groups, including the specific tasks and timeframes for each group. We are currently finalizing plans for all three Operations groups of the Palliative Care Center Pilot Project, which demonstrates benefits of a nurse practitioner directed clinic providing primary care.
